SEN. WHEELER OF MONTANA MAKES DEMAND AT PROBE

SAID SUSPENSION SHOULD BE MADE DURING INVESTIGATION OF OFFICE

CLAIMS IT IS NOT FAIR TO COUNTRY DAUGHERTY SHOULD HOLD POSITION

Congress Today By United Press

Senate: Considers Wadsworth constitutional amendment. Teapot Dome committee resumes. Daugherty investigation continues. Finance committee considers tax bill. House: Considers naval appropriations bill. Special committee begins investigation of shipping board.

Washington, March 22.—Suspension of Attorney General Daugherty during the investigation of his office was demanded by Senator Wheeler, Montana.

"I think the least the president could do, would be to suspend the attorney general during this hearing," said Wheeler as the inquiry into Daugherty's conduct of the justice department was resumed.

"It is not fair to the country and to the public that Daugherty should hold his position."

Wheeler's demand for Daugherty's suspension was coupled with a sharp attack on the attorney general for his recent statement reflecting on Roxie Stinson.

When the committee met today, ex-Senator Chamberlain, counsel for Daugherty, complained that he had not been given an opportunity to cross-examine important witnesses.

This, he said, put the attorney general to a disadvantage. Wheeler then launched his attack.

"If ever a man stooped to a cowardly, dirty, low down trick, it was the attorney general when he attacked a poor defenseless woman," said Wheeler.

"I felt, Senator Chamberlain, that you must have blushed with shame when you read it."

As Wheeler spoke, Mrs. Stinson, who later took the stand, pressed a handkerchief to her mouth to hold back the sobs. Her eyes slowly filled with tears which trickled unchecked down her cheeks.

It was Chamberlain's charge that Roxie Stinson's and Gaston B. Means' testimony was unsupported, Wheeler said.

"She has letters in her possession in which Smith referred to deals and stock which she will produce. I say it was an unmanly and indecent thing for the attorney general to make the attacks he did on her."

"The attorney general is in a very difficult position," Chamberlain replied.

"Difficult!" exclaimed Wheeler. "Is not the committee's position difficult with the attorney general holding the power of his department over our witnesses with the greatest detectives in the world working for his department, for him?"

Wheeler then declared that Daugherty should be suspended and said the president was open to criticism for failing to do so.

Armed with legal documents to back up her sensational story of Jesse Smith's "deals" in liquor, pardons and official influence, Mrs. Stinson then took the stand.

Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition forces, sat at the committee table with Daugherty's counsel.

She was present, it was said, to observe the course of the "booze deals" disclosed with a view to possible prosecutions.

"I would like to take up Mr. Daugherty's first statement to the papers. He referred to me as a 'woman disappointed because Jesse Smith did not regard her as his sole heir under his will.' Mrs. Stinson said.

"Jesse Smith never led me to believe that he would make me his heir. I was not his wife and didn't expect

LONDON WALKS; 40,000 TRAM AND BUS MEN STRIKE

(By United Press) London, March 22.—London scrambled to work this morning in crowded subways and on foot, following a strike of 40,000 tram and bus workers, at midnight. Thousands of people were late to their posts.

The strikers demand a wage increase of about $1.95 a week.

Court inquiry into the strike was started this afternoon. Simultaneously, Secretary Bevan, of the transport workers, issued a statement upholding the strike and declaring the men's demand for a wage increase is justified.

Virtually no street cars or buses were running, throwing a tremendous burden on the subways and, according to reports, these might call a sympathetic strike before night. If they do call a strike, London will be practically without transportation of any kind. Only a few scattered "pirate" buses were running this morning.

HIGHWAYMAN AND FORGER HAS AN "ESCAPE" HABIT

HARRY G. GORMAN RE-CAPTURED EARLY TODAY AT SOUTH ST. PAUL

BROKE HIS FOOT WHEN HE LEAPED FROM MINNEAPOLIS HOSPITAL

(By United Press) Minneapolis, March 22.—Harry G. Gorman, highwayman and forger who escaped twice recently, was re-captured early today at South St. Paul.

Gorman slid down a rope and escaped from Minneapolis general hospital last night. When recaptured at South St. Paul, he was suffering intense pain from an injury in his foot, apparently broken in the escape he made last night.

Gorman made his first escape from Rochester hospital for the criminally insane last January. He rode to the Twin Cities in a box car in 18 below zero weather, and froze both his hands and feet. He was undergoing treatment at the hospital when taken to jail. Infection in his arm sent him back to the hospital and then he escaped late last night. The woman who called on him in the afternoon is believed to have supplied him with clothing and a rope.

He says, "I am a malicious woman disappointed at failure of tentative efforts to capitalize her silence."

"I say these are utterly false. Quite the contrary, as my testimony will show."

"I think he said people attempted to get information from me and have offered me money for 'leads' about Harry Daugherty."

"Who are these people?" Wheeler broke in.

"A young man came to my door one day and told me he was a representative of the Associated Press representing the 'Citizen.' He said he wanted to interview me about Teapot Dome. I said I knew nothing about it."

"Mrs. Stinson said the name the newspaper man gave her was 'Lyle Johnson.' She said he begged her to give him a 'lead' and offered her $1,000 for the information."

"I laughed at him," she said, "and told him not to talk foolishness to me as I did not want to get mixed up in this Washington affair."

GUERRILLA TACTICS USED IN IRELAND; 2 KILLED, 20 HURT

DUBLIN STIRRED BY MACHINE GUN ATTACK ON BRITISH SOLDIERS

ATTACKERS ADVANCED IN FAST MOTOR CAR, FIRED ON CLOSELY PACKED TROOPS

(By United Press) Dublin, March 22.—Relentless search was under way throughout Ireland today for four men who attacked a party of British soldiers on a pier at Queens-town, killing two and wounding more than a score of them.

One of the soldiers was killed instantly, and a second succumbed at a hospital in Cork today.

The attackers, driving a fast motor car, used a machine gun which mowed through the closely packed British troops with devastating effect.

Although the assailants were dressed in the uniform of officers of the army of the Free State, it was denied they were members of the government's military establishment. Free State military headquarters in Cork has issued a statement declaring the assassins undoubtedly were irregulars who have resumed their guerrilla tactics following the mutiny of many army officers and troops because of the government's military re-organization program.

Free State police, military and civil agents are searching Queens-town, Cork and surrounding territory for the assassins, but early this morning no trace of them had been found and no arrests had been made.

The attack aroused intense excitement throughout the nation, and the press is unanimous in urging the government to leave no stone unturned to capture the marauders.

WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS PINCHED BY HIGH COSTS DROP OUT

(By United Press) St. Paul, March 21.—Weekly newspapers of the country are on the toboggan slide, according to H. C. Hotelling, secretary of the National Editorial Association, St. Paul.

In the last seven years a total of 2,705 weekly newspapers have closed up shop, he said. This is an average of 386 a year.

North Dakota stood high on the list with the loss of 3 daily newspapers and 53 weekly newspapers.

"As the cost of doing business advances, the number of newspapers surviving each year grows less and less," he said. "Perhaps it is a good thing—only the fittest survive. Thus the country has better newspapers."

HOOVER TAKES RAP AT LAWYER

INTERMEYER SAID COUNTRY IS TRUST RIDDEN BECAUSE OF FORMER'S INACTION

(By United Press) Washington, March 22.—Secretary of Commerce Hoover today issued a sharp reply to Samuel Untermyer, who in a letter to Senator Capper charged that the American public was trust ridden because of Hoover's "convenient blindness and inaction," with respect to the anti-trust law.

Hoover, writing to Capper, said that Untermyer is "either engaged in slander, or has lost his memory, or knows nothing of the functions of the department of commerce, or is endeavoring to expose efforts to restrain foreign price combinations against the American people."

CHARGED WITH PASSING $10 COUNTERFEIT BILLS

(By United Press) Chicago, March 22.—Seven men, the last of a gang of counterfeiters, charged with passing $1,000,000 in spurious ten dollar bills in the west and middle west states during the past six months, were under arrest here today.

Large batches of bills were pawned off in Denver, Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland, federal agents said. The men, heavily armed, were captured in a saloon by a dozen federal agents and police. The prisoners gave their names as Leo Trent, Albert Ellekson, John Moore, James Farrell, Thomas Shine, Thomas McDonald and Jacob Endermanne.

SINCLAIR BALKS AT TESTIFYING IN OIL HEARING

SUCCESSFULLY DEFIES EFFORTS OF SENATE COMMITTEE TO MAKE HIM TALK

UPON HIS DISMISSAL, WILL HAYS WAS CALLED TO THE STAND

(By United Press) Washington, March 22.—Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of Teapot Dome, today successfully defied the efforts of the senate oil committee to make him testify.

Immediately after Sinclair was dismissed from the stand, Will Hays was called and opened his testimony with a vigorous denial that he ever had received any Sinclair oil stock—75,000 shares—according to rumor to liquidate a plan of the republican national committee debt after the last election.

The committee had voted to insist that Sinclair take the stand for examination. He read a statement declaring he had reserved all his testimony for the courts because the committee had turned over to them the question of the legality of his lease. He steadfastly declined to answer any of a series of questions shot at him after he had made his statement.

The committee excused him without indicating what the next step would be.

Hays revealed, however, that Sinclair did contribute $75,000 toward the republican fund. Hays testified he "may have asked Sinclair for the money himself."

Sinclair a Heavy Contributor

That Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate and lessee of Teapot Dome naval reserve, contributed $75,000 toward the republican national committee campaign deficit after the 1920 election was the admission wrung from Will Hays, former chairman of the committee, for the senate oil investigators here today.

After denying vigorously that Sinclair stock had not been turned over to the republican committee to liquidate the deficit, Hays revealed that money instead of stock was the contribution of the oil man.

He also revealed that the law firm of Hays & Hays with which his name was associated, served Sinclair as a client during the time that Hays was in the cabinet, although Hays himself had severed active connection with his firm at the time.

Hays further testified that the liberty bond transaction effected between G. Wahlberg, secretary to Sinclair and a man named "Hayes" testified to be Wahlberg when the latter was before the committee some time ago—might have been a personal transaction between his brother, Hinkle Hays, and Harry Sinclair. He defied the committee, refusing to answer any questions on "advice of counsel," and later the committee announced he would be cited for contempt.

"SOUND ECONOMIC RELIEF WHERE IT IS NEEDED"

POLICY ENUNCIATED BY PRES. COOLIDGE, REFERRING TO NORTH DAKOTA

THANKS VOTERS FOR RESULTS IN STATE'S PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY

(By United Press) Fargo, N. D., March 22.—President Coolidge promised to "advocate sound economic relief where it is needed," in a telegram of thanks for the North Dakota presidential preference.

The president was given a plurality of 13,000 over Senators LaFollette and Johnson, according to virtually complete returns.

The combined LaFollette-Johnson vote, however, exceeds the total for President Coolidge by nearly 18,000. LaFollette's vote giving him a plurality of more than 6,000 over Senator Johnson, was a distinct surprise in all political circles.

While early returns indicated LaFollette was getting a big vote, it was not until the returns were fairly complete that the Wisconsin senator passed the Californian and virtually sealed his doom in this state.

In his telegram of appreciation to L. B. Hanna, state manager of his campaign, President Coolidge said: "I wish to assure you as one who has taken a courageous stand in the defense of the principles which I am attempting to uphold, that I intend to execute the law for the protection of every public interest. I intend to advocate legislation of all the administrative forces of the government and organize private enterprises to give sound economic relief where it is needed. It is an encouragement to find that the people wish to support that kind of action."

Wife Asks Freedom From Mate Who Asserts His Right to Be "the Boss"

St. Paul, March 22.—Objecting to her husband being the "boss" in their home to the extent that he went out nights and refused to explain where he had been, Ethel H. Peterson, 31, today filed suit for divorce from Theodore A. Peterson, 30.

They were married in St. Paul, October 15, 1921, and Mrs. Peterson charges shortly afterwards her husband began to remain away nights and when she inquired where he had been he told her, "I am boss here."

In November, 1921, Mrs. Peterson charges, her husband threw her out of bed and tore her "nightie."

WASHINGTON HAS A NEW SCANDAL, "TAX SHARKS"

THEIR EXPOSURE AND PUNISHMENT SOUGHT BY SENATE INVESTIGATORS

SEEK TO REVEAL IF FAVORITISM WAS SHOWN ANY LARGE CORPORATIONS

(By United Press) Washington, March 22.—Exposure and punishment of "tax sharks" and of officials responsible for favoritism to big business in making tax reduction is to be sought by senate investigators as the result of startling testimony in Washington's newest scandal—the Couzens inquiry into the internal revenue bureau.

Testimony before the committee yesterday by J. E. Adams, formerly a supervisor in the bureau, has started the investigation on these points:

1. Was favoritism shown the United States Steel corporation, the aluminum corporation and other great concerns as Adams charged?
2. Who issued "confidential orders" which Adams said went to bureau employees to expedite certain tax claims at the expense of others?
3. Whether this tax procedure is not a contributing factor to the abuses which the committee believes has come up within the bureau.

Adams' testimony was most general and he admitted when Watson, Indiana, asked him, he had obtained no evidence, but he insisted he knew the facts.

The testimony thus far held in brief afternoon hearings has already started a movement among the investigators for legislation to "light in" on tax procedure.

Senator King, Utah, leader of the tax publicity movement, said the abuses undoubtedly sprang from secrecy of tax procedure which permitted "tax sharks"—former bureau employees—to use information gained in the government's employ to bring about tax adjustments.

London, March 22.—Compelled to disrobe in Dorking casual yard a woman was found to be wearing seven skirts, six coats (including a soldier's tunic), nine stockings on one leg, eight on the other and a proportionate supply of underclothing.

It is little wonder that Senator Magnus Johnson of Minnesota lost his milking contest in Washington. Recent exposures would indicate that Washington has been the home of expert milkers.—Bemidji Sentinel.

COOLIDGE IN THE COLUMN WITH THE "GAS" GOVERNOR

THOMAS STERLING, HEAD OF COOLIDGE CAMPAIGN, HEADS MINORITY TICKET

HIRAM JOHNSON IN INDEPENDENT COLUMN FOR PRESIDENTIAL PREFERENCE

(By United Press) Mitchell, S. D., March 22.—The South Dakota primary is just about as mixed up as the Richards law could make it.

President Coolidge is in the column with the "gasoline governor," W. H. McMaster, majority endorsee for United States senator.

Thomas Sterling, head of the Coolidge campaign, is at the head of the minority ticket seeking re-election to the senate.

Hiram Johnson, who passed up a minority opportunity, is in the independent column for presidential preference, with a list of delegates to the republican national convention headed by Senator Peter Norbeck.

Robert M. LaFollette's name as in North Dakota doesn't appear on the ballot, but his name will be freely written in on the farmer-labor, republican and perhaps on the democratic ballot.

LaFollette supporters are glad the republican tickets are so mixed up. When the ballots are cast Tuesday, the same kind of LaFollette stickers will be used that were so effectively used in North Dakota.

Stickers are being distributed, not by the direct wish of Senator LaFollette, but as the result of the voluntary boom that has made LaFollette the northwest's third party choice.

South Dakota four years ago gave Leonard Wood the republican endorsement. Supporters of Hiram Johnson are hopeful that something of the same situation exists that would give him the majority.

Senator Peter Norbeck is one of the strongest political forces in the state, and this lends more hope to the Johnson campaign. So far as the senatorship is concerned, it seems to be the popular opinion that Governor McMaster will be nominated for U. S. Senator. Senator Thos. Sterling, however, is an older political man and has a huge personal showing.

Many take the fact that Senator Sterling sacrificed a place on the majority ticket in the state convention last December in order to give the majority to President Coolidge. As a reward for this sacrifice, it is felt in many quarters Senator Sterling will be given a big senate vote that may beat the popular governor for the nomination.

The democrats are all agreed on William Gibbs McAdoo for presidential preference. The contest is over committeemen and delegates. There are two senators running with the principal difference centering around modification of the Volstead act.

The farmer-labor ranks are all agreed on Senator LaFollette. At his request his name was not placed on the ballot. There is rather a desperate struggle in the farmer-labor ranks for control of the party with Tom Ayres the likely winner. He is candidate for nomination for United States senator, with Mark P. Bates his opponent.

5 MORE FILE FOR STATE OFFICES

FOR SUPREME COURT, GOVERNOR AND CONGRESS 10TH DISTRICT

(By United Press) St. Paul, March 22.—Five more candidates for state offices filed their names with the secretary of state today.

Samuel B. Wilson, Mankato, chief justice of the supreme court, Royale A. Stone, St. Paul, and Andrew Holt, Minneapolis, associate justices, all made known that they will be candidates for re-election.

Victor E. Lawson, Willmar, newspaper man, filed as a candidate for governor on the farmer-labor ticket.

Guy W. Howard, Minneapolis, filed for the nomination for congressman from the 10th district on a "stand pat" republican platform.

CITY EDITOR WINS A $500 LITERARY PRIZE

(By United Press) New York, March 22.—Edgar Valentine Smith, city editor of the Birmingham (Ala.) News, an ex-lumberjack, is $500 better off as a result of securing the first prize of gold offered by the O'Henry Memorial Society for "Prelude," a short story of southern "poor white trash."

The winner of this annual prize described himself as a "literary loafer" and a backwoodsman pure and simple.

Nude Will Remain

Dublin, March 22.—All kinds of trouble was started here when Michael Sevier, painter, exhibited a nude painting in Dublin art gallery. The proprietor of the gallery threatened to close the exhibition unless the picture was removed. It was finally agreed that the picture may stay until protest has been made by the public or police.

WASHINGTON HAS A NEW SCANDAL, "TAX SHARKS"

THEIR EXPOSURE AND PUNISHMENT SOUGHT BY SENATE INVESTIGATORS

SEEK TO REVEAL IF FAVORITISM WAS SHOWN ANY LARGE CORPORATIONS

(By United Press) Washington, March 22.—Exposure and punishment of "tax sharks" and of officials responsible for favoritism to big business in making tax reduction is to be sought by senate investigators as the result of startling testimony in Washington's newest scandal—the Couzens inquiry into the internal revenue bureau.

Testimony before the committee yesterday by J. E. Adams, formerly a supervisor in the bureau, has started the investigation on these points:

1. Was favoritism shown the United States Steel corporation, the aluminum corporation and other great concerns as Adams charged?
2. Who issued "confidential orders" which Adams said went to bureau employees to expedite certain tax claims at the expense of others?
3. Whether this tax procedure is not a contributing factor to the abuses which the committee believes has come up within the bureau.

Adams' testimony was most general and he admitted when Watson, Indiana, asked him, he had obtained no evidence, but he insisted he knew the facts.

The testimony thus far held in brief afternoon hearings has already started a movement among the investigators for legislation to "light in" on tax procedure.

Senator King, Utah, leader of the tax publicity movement, said the abuses undoubtedly sprang from secrecy of tax procedure which permitted "tax sharks"—former bureau employees—to use information gained in the government's employ to bring about tax adjustments.

Truly Old-Fashioned

London, March 22.—Compelled to disrobe in Dorking casual yard a woman was found to be wearing seven skirts, six coats (including a soldier's tunic), nine stockings on one leg, eight on the other and a proportionate supply of underclothing.

It is little wonder that Senator Magnus Johnson of Minnesota lost his milking contest in Washington. Recent exposures would indicate that Washington has been the home of expert milkers.—Bemidji Sentinel.

COOLIDGE IN THE COLUMN WITH THE "GAS" GOVERNOR

THOMAS STERLING, HEAD OF COOLIDGE CAMPAIGN, HEADS MINORITY TICKET

HIRAM JOHNSON IN INDEPENDENT COLUMN FOR PRESIDENTIAL PREFERENCE

(By United Press) Mitchell, S. D., March 22.—The South Dakota primary is just about as mixed up as the Richards law could make it.

President Coolidge is in the column with the "gasoline governor," W. H. McMaster, majority endorsee for United States senator.

Thomas Sterling, head of the Coolidge campaign, is at the head of the minority ticket seeking re-election to the senate.

Hiram Johnson, who passed up a minority opportunity, is in the independent column for presidential preference, with a list of delegates to the republican national convention headed by Senator Peter Norbeck.

Robert M. LaFollette's name as in North Dakota doesn't appear on the ballot, but his name will be freely written in on the farmer-labor, republican and perhaps on the democratic ballot.

LaFollette supporters are glad the republican tickets are so mixed up. When the ballots are cast Tuesday, the same kind of LaFollette stickers will be used that were so effectively used in North Dakota.

Stickers are being distributed, not by the direct wish of Senator LaFollette, but as the result of the voluntary boom that has made LaFollette the northwest's third party choice.

South Dakota four years ago gave Leonard Wood the republican endorsement. Supporters of Hiram Johnson are hopeful that something of the same situation exists that would give him the majority.

Senator Peter Norbeck is one of the strongest political forces in the state, and this lends more hope to the Johnson campaign. So far as the senatorship is concerned, it seems to be the popular opinion that Governor McMaster will be nominated for U. S. Senator. Senator Thos. Sterling, however, is an older political man and has a huge personal showing.

Many take the fact that Senator Sterling sacrificed a place on the majority ticket in the state convention last December in order to give the majority to President Coolidge. As a reward for this sacrifice, it is felt in many quarters Senator Sterling will be given a big senate vote that may beat the popular governor for the nomination.

The democrats are all agreed on William Gibbs McAdoo for presidential preference. The contest is over committeemen and delegates. There are two senators running with the principal difference centering around modification of the Volstead act.

The farmer-labor ranks are all agreed on Senator LaFollette. At his request his name was not placed on the ballot. There is rather a desperate struggle in the farmer-labor ranks for control of the party with Tom Ayres the likely winner.

He is candidate for nomination for United States senator, with Mark P. Bates his opponent.

John D. Sinks 21-Foot Putt for Par Three in Game Before Camera in Rain

Ormond Beach, Fla., March 22.—John D. Rockefeller is recovering slowly today from the shock—as golfers may well realize—of sinking a 21-foot putt for a par three on the local course during his game yesterday.

Rockefeller was playing at the time with A. W. Calloway of Philadelphia, J. W. Wood of Chicago and Mrs. I. D. Warner of Bridgeport. He pulled his master stroke during a driving rain and in the face of a movie camera.

A HOME BUILDING EXPOSITION

THE success of the auto show of Brainerd, staged by 13 dealers, has caused other lines to wonder if they cannot also stage an exposition. There is, for instance, room for a show put on by the lumber companies, assisted by hardware men, contractors, decorators, real estate men, and others, featuring "Home Building." Such a show would give invaluable pointers to home builders and lead many young couples to cease the rent-paying and devote their savings to home construction.

A city, in its last analysis, rests on the number of home owners it has. They form the stable, solid foundation of a city. Their vote, oftentimes silent, but none the less effective, controls the policy of a city. A home is a man's castle. The tenderest memories of man or woman cling to the old home. It is the basis of true citizenship and radiates immeasurable good.

We believe a "Home Building Exposition" would be a most effective means of stirring up latent building enthusiasm. It would show in concrete form the costs of building, plans, construction materials, etc.

THE COUNTY AGENT

AFTER being without a county agent for a year and a half, says the Albert Lea Tribune, the county board of Fillmore county has decided to hire another agent. It was found that farm clubs and cooperative organizations were suffering without the guiding hand of this important community official. No progressive county would think of getting along without a live, up-to-date county agent.

The Bemidji Daily Pioneer adds its comment as follows: In any progressive community a clearing house for farm information is necessary. The county agent cannot be expected to know more about pure-bred cattle than the farmer who is raising them nor more about potatoes than the grower who is making a success of the business but he can act as a medium through which the dairyman can tell the potato grower things that he doesn't know and vice versa.

COOPERATION WINS

THAT cooperation wins is shown by the first night's opening of the Brainerd Automobile Show. The teamwork of the auto dealers of the city provided the show. All activities were directed by the association and the results were most pleasing, the crowds opening night being so great that they could not all be accommodated. The overflow will be in attendance the balance of the week end.

Exhibits, decorations, music, radio, singing, all contributed to make a remarkable show and which pleased the public mightily. It gained the interest and attention of every visitor and many will come again.

The show is entirely free, and the association just radiates a glad welcome which will please every man, woman and child attending.

WHAT IS NEEDED IN HOMES

WHAT we need now in home building, says the Stillwater Gazette, is some one who will discovered how we can build modern homes for two or three thousand dollars. When that happy day rolls around the homes of America will then be the happy and contented places they should be.

Such discovery would be of much more benefit than the peace plans of Edward Bok or any one else.

A FIRST NATIONAL ATTRACTION

DEMPSEY TO FIGHT TWICE IN 1924

New York, March 22.—Unsettled conditions in New York, which several times threatened the life of the boxing game, have made it impractical for Tex Rickard to say too much about his plans for the coming summer.

Rickard has practically decided upon his program. He has the matches and the dates in mind and all he has to do is to remain silent until the time comes to talk.

The first big bout of the outdoor season will bring Jack Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons together again in a return bout. Kearns has been showing unusual antipathy toward suggestions for this bout and Eddie Kane, Gibbons' manager has been yelling that Dempsey didn't want the match.

There were reasons for Kearns to be cool on the proposition, because it would not do to have the steam all let out early in the winter, when it would have to be all heated up again before the summer had hardly started.

Dempsey will fight anyone, if he gets the money he wants, and Tex Rickard will meet his financial demands when Rickard sees money in it himself. There would be money for a promoter in another Dempsey-Gibbons fight, because Gibbons doesn't want the mint for fighting, and Dempsey will draw a house any time or any place he fights.

Rickard is not making any plans to give Georges Carpentier some work, despite reports from Paris to the contrary. Paris newspapers a few days ago carried a story that Carpentier had completed negotiations for three fights under Rickard's promotion and that he was sailing in a short time. Rickard said he didn't even know that Georges was still alive and that he hadn't any negotiations with him for anything.

Dempsey, it was reported some time ago, might go to England this summer and take another smack at Carpentier in a bout to be staged in the Wembley stadium. It was suggested that the bout might draw enough to pay the two young financiers if it could be staged during the British empire exposition.

Charles B. Cochrane, prominent London theatrical promoter and an occasional flinger at boxing, said, recently when he was in New York, that he could see no opportunities in a big fight.

"I'm going to give them something for a couple of dollars," he said. "I'm going to get Tex Austin to pull off one of your western rodeos and stampedes."

ATTENDANCE WAS LARGER FRIDAY

Brainerd's First Annual Auto Show
Continues Attractive
Appeal

MEETS HIGH EXPECTATIONS

Praised as Being Better Show Than at Winona, Mankato or
New Ulm

With a larger attendance on Friday than on the opening day, Brainerd's first annual automobile show closed its second session with all local dealers expressing their entire satisfaction with the results obtained. All agree that it is far more than meeting their highest expectations, and are enthusiastic with the hearty co-operation which the public has accorded in making the event a decided success.

C. E. Walker, a representative of the Buick Company, who has been in attendance at a number of auto shows in the Northwest this season, states that, excluding the twin city show, the Brainerd exposition is far better than similar shows put on by Winona, Mankato and New Ulm. Mr. Walker was high in his praise of the initiative of the Brainerd dealers, and the evident appreciation which the public is giving the local show.

In the opinion of all dealers, the auto show has done much to stimulate the purchase of new cars this spring. People have had an opportunity to compare the different makes and models, and to hear from factory experts the merits of the different varieties.

This is the last day of the show, and all should avail themselves of the opportunity to see the big exposition that the local dealers have made possible at no little cost in time and money. The doors have been open all day today, so that folks from the country could stop in and view the exhibits while on their trading trips. The Lyric orchestra played during the afternoon, and will be featured again this evening. In addition a short program will be rendered at nine o'clock o'clock tonight, at which time Mrs. Mal Clark and A. C. Mraz will favor with solos, accompanied by Mrs. Walter F. Wieland at the piano.

It is expected that the attendance this evening will far exceed that of any others of the show, people will come early and stay late, it is thought.

Officers, committees and members of the auto show came in for much praise. General Chairman John Imgrund, Jr., kept enthusiasm generated and worked with all committees. Secretary-Treasurer E. W. Paine attended to financial affairs with ability and dispatch. The committees worked energetically and every man gave a good account of himself.

That the auto show has been established as an institution in Brainerd seems an assured fact and how to accommodate the crowds next year will be one of the problems to be solved.

Visitors have come from as far west as Wedona, east to Cloquet, north above Walker and south even to St. Cloud. It stands as a striking testimonial of what can be accomplished in unity of action, whole hearted support to an agreed program and reflects credit on all concerned.

Automobile Show Notes

Benson Motor Co.

The Benson Motor company reports very favorable results from the auto show. W. Daly, a factory representative of the Gardner car is assisting in demonstrating this make of automobile, and has a number of good prospects who seem very enthusiastic over its many splendid features. Mr. Daly's only regret was the fact that only one Gardner was obtainable for the show, the demand in this territory being much in excess of the allotment. The company is said to be behind in its orders, so favorably has the public accepted "A Good Car," the slogan by which the Gardner is known. The latest record which this automobile has made will be a hard one to surpass. "Cannon-ball Baker" recently completed a coast to coast trip under the most unfavorable conditions, it is said in four days and 17 hours, putting the Gardner to many very severe tests, to which it responded without the least trouble.

The Benson Motor company also has the agency for the Auburn "Beauty Six," which was contracted for too late to exhibit at the Brainerd show. It is the opinion of this company that the auto show has stimulated the automobile business in Brainerd and vicinity more than any other thing that the local dealers could have done. It is the hope of the company that the exhibition will be repeated on a much larger scale next season.

The Imgrund Auto Company

Assisting the Imgrund Auto company at their fine display at the auto show was C. E. Walker of the Buick headquarters of Minneapolis. He has attended many auto shows and so is qualified to judge and voice his opinion. He stated emphatically that Brainerd had the best show he had seen outside of the Twin Cities.

"And now that buyers are beginning to select their cars for this year, the increasing demand that is being placed to all Buick dealers for early car deliveries, the prediction that the factory made one year ago, is being fully justified. Once a Buick owner, always a Buick owner. And users are our best advertising medium. Ask a Buick owner," said Mr. Walker.

Three models of Buicks are still at the show rooms of the Imgrund Auto Co., there not being room enough at the auto show to display all their models. The exhibit at the auto show was surrounded by many interested people and the whole force of the Imgrund Auto company was on hand to explain all details.

Northwestern Oil Company

Among exhibits attached shortly before the show opened was that of the Northwestern Oil company, in charge of P. B. Humphrey. Oil, greases, etc., handled by the company were attractively displayed. The gears of a car were revealed, reversing, second and high shown, the cross section bedded in oil revealing how the lubricant operated.

Alderman-Maghan Co.

The Alderman-Maghan company has an exhibit of paints, oils, brushes, etc., to be used in car painting, varnishing, etc. It was very nicely arranged and attracted much attention.

Judd Wright & Son

Judd Wright & Son carried a nice exhibition of paints, oils, etc., used in car painting and decorating and proved an attractive exhibit.

Brainerd Auto Top Company

Brainerd Auto Top company carried a line of its supplies and showing work of various kinds.

Electric Garage

"We are demonstrating our service to automobile owners, at the show, rather than offering any particular article for sale," said Stewart Benson, of the Electric Garage. "Judging from the crowds that have centered around our exhibit, our efforts along this line have been highly successful, and we are certainly very glad to have had part in Brainerd's first auto show."

The Electric Garage's booth is showing the Willard storage battery, and the new Weidenhoff test stand. The latter is for testing electric automobile starters, generators and coils, and is said to be a wizard for locating any trouble that may exist in these important parts of a car.

The company is a service station for Delco and Remy ignition products, Bosch, Auto-lite, Atwater-Kent, Connecticut, Briggs and Stratton, and Klum systems of automobile ignition.

Only recently the Electric Garage has taken over the agency for the Michelin tires and is staging an interesting contest, at the auto show. An inner tube of this make is being pumped up and will be inflated until it blows out at 10 o'clock this evening.

This garage is re-arranging its entire stock to provide more space for its new lines and larger stocks.

Sheriff Fred J. Reid supervised a moonshine destroying party at the court house Saturday morning, the event taking on the appearance of a "wake" over the remains of old John Barleycorn, which were carefully disposed off, in the presence of quite a number of witnesses.

Approximately one hundred and twenty-five gallons of contraband liquor, taken in raids during the past fall and winter, were poured down the hill and into the ravine south of the court house. James M. Gorham, of the 10,000 Lakes Studio took several pictures of the scene, arranging the jugs and three stills in a large "W" on the ground to represent "Whiskey," and in the background the liquor being poured down the hill.

The containers that were emptied consisted of eighteen five-gallon jugs, four three-gallon jugs and ten two-gallon jugs, in addition to a number of quart bottles. There was a great variety of liquor, moonshine whiskey of several kinds, and wines, the latter taken in raids on the Range. It is the sheriff's intention to offer the jugs for sale.

Quite a number of witnesses gathered around to watch the last sad rites, and the windows of the court house were crowded with spectators.

who offered many suggestions as to the disposition of the liquor.

ATTENDANCE WAS LARGER FRIDAY

Brainerd's First Annual Auto Show
Continues Attractive
Appeal

MEETS HIGH EXPECTATIONS

Praised as Being Better Show Than
at Winona, Mankato or
New Ulm

With a larger attendance on Friday than on the opening day, Brainerd's first annual automobile show closed its second session with all local dealers expressing their entire satisfaction with the results obtained. All agree that it is far more than meeting their highest expectations, and are enthusiastic with the hearty co-operation which the public has accorded in making the event a decided success.

C. E. Walker, a representative of the Buick Company, who has been in attendance at a number of auto shows in the Northwest this season, states that, excluding the twin city show, the Brainerd exposition is far better than similar shows put on by Winona, Mankato and New Ulm. Mr. Walker was high in his praise of the initiative of the Brainerd dealers, and the evident appreciation which the public is giving the local show.

In the opinion of all dealers, the auto show has done much to stimulate the purchase of new cars this spring. People have had an opportunity to compare the different makes and models, and to hear from factory experts the merits of the different varieties.

This is the last day of the show, and all should avail themselves of the opportunity to see the big exposition that the local dealers have made possible at no little cost in time and money. The doors have been open all day today, so that folks from the country could stop in and view the exhibits while on their trading trips. The Lyric orchestra played during the afternoon, and will be featured again this evening. In addition a short program will be rendered at nine o'clock o'clock tonight, at which time Mrs. Mal Clark and A. C. Mraz will favor with solos, accompanied by Mrs. Walter F. Wieland at the piano.

It is expected that the attendance this evening will far exceed that of any others of the show, people will come early and stay late, it is thought.

Officers, committees and members of the auto show came in for much praise. General Chairman John Imgrund, Jr., kept enthusiasm generated and worked with all committees. Secretary-Treasurer E. W. Paine attended to financial affairs with ability and dispatch. The committees worked energetically and every man gave a good account of himself.

That the auto show has been established as an institution in Brainerd seems an assured fact and how to accommodate the crowds next year will be one of the problems to be solved.

Visitors have come from as far west as Wedana, east to Cloquet, north above Walker and south even to St. Cloud. It stands as a striking testimonial of what can be accomplished in unity of action, whole hearted support to an agreed program and reflects credit on all concerned.

Automobile Show Notes

Benson Motor Co.

The Benson Motor company reports very favorable results from the auto show. W. Daly, a factory representative of the Gardner car is assisting in demonstrating this make of automobile, and has a number of good prospects who seem very enthusiastic over its many splendid features. Mr. Daly's only regret was the fact that only one Gardner was obtainable for the show, the demand in this territory being much in excess of the allotment. The company is said to be behind in its orders, so favorably has the public accepted "A Good Car," the slogan by which the Gardner is known. The latest record which this automobile has made will be a hard one to surpass. "Cannon-ball Baker" recently completed a coast to coast trip under the most unfavorable conditions. It is said in four days and 17 hours, putting the Gardner to many very severe tests, to which it responded without the least trouble.

The Benson Motor company also has the agency for the Auburn "Beauty Six," which was contracted for too late to exhibit at the Brainerd show. It is the opinion of this company that the auto show has stimulated the automobile business in Brainerd and vicinity more than any other thing that the local dealers could have done. It is the hope of the company that the exhibition will be repeated on a much larger scale next season.

The Imgrund Auto Company

Assisting the Imgrund Auto company at their fine display at the auto show was C. E. Walker of the Buick headquarters of Minneapolis. He has attended many auto shows and so is qualified to judge and voice his opinion. He stated emphatically that Brainerd had the best show he had seen outside of the Twin Cities.

"And now that buyers are beginning to select their cars for this year, the increasing demand that is being placed to all Buick dealers for early car deliveries, the prediction that the factory made one year ago, is being fully justified. Once a Buick owner, always a Buick owner. And users are our best advertising medium. Ask a Buick owner," said Mr. Walker.

Three models of Buicks are still at the show rooms of the Imgrund Auto Co., there not being room enough at the auto show to display all their models. It's Easy to Make Your Own Spring Frocks

WOMEN who create their own costumes know how simple it is, with the new patterns, to achieve perfection of line, to follow accurately the correct variations of the modish Spring silhouette.

As for fabrics—their beauty and charm, as seen in our Spring Fabric Display, will prove an inspiration to the home dressmaker. All the colors of the rainbow seem caught in the meshes of these lovely weaves; and here and there the gleam of some favored white fabric foretells a charming summer mode.

Small wonder that women are enthusiastically planning a period of sewing activity. For they know that beauty of line, fabric and color, together with an inimitable touch of distinctiveness, possible if they make their own clothes.

THE PENZANCE

A House That Brings Double Revenue.

The two-family house, or duplex, as it is sometimes called, offers the property owner a splendid opportunity for making his realty holdings produce double revenue. Especially is this true where a man holds several small, scattered, high-class lots in restricted neighborhoods or where larger apartment houses might not pay. Also to the property owner who would build himself a home which will pay for itself this plan of building is especially recommended.

The Penzance is of a type designed for real estate development in Cleveland where it has proved very successful. It requires but a 35-foot lot and though it has a high-pitched English type of roof, the narrowed effect is overcome by the gables and the long openings of the porches.

Both floors have practically the same arrangement except that on the first floor the front porch serves as an entrance for the living room while the upper floor is reached by a private entrance from the side porch. Here, too, there is a door to the living room of the first floor.

The hospitable bright, well-proportioned living room is enhanced by the inviting fireplace. This room can be used for sleeping, there being a generous dressing room adjacent which can also be used as a sewing room. The dining room has wall space enough for a full dining-room set. The kitchen is designed so as to make work there pleasant and easy. The bath is between the two bedrooms and is reached by a central hallway where the linen closet is located. Good closet room is provided in each sleeping room also.

Insulation, grates and position of coal bin.

6. Especial care should be used in planning the color for painting the new home, and the interior decoration. Have you selected colors that will not become tiresome to you?

7. Roofing in many sections deteriorates rapidly. Especial attention should be given to this important part of your home.

8. If you are buying a ready-built home, ask neighbors or previous tenants about warmth, and other comforts of the building.

9. Do not let enamel paint, special hardwood floors, tiled bathrooms, sun porches or other luxuries make you forget the more important points already mentioned.

10. Such points as the validity of the title to the land, sewerage connections, soil, paved streets, etc., are matters about which one should investigate thoroughly.

IMPORTANT POINTS IN BUYING HOME

Or in Building a Home, as Given by Architect's Small House Service Bureau

GROUP UNDER TWO HEADS

House Should be Simple and Attractive, Setting of the House Convenient

Below are given twenty important points to look for in building or in buying a home, as outlined by the Architect's Small House Service Bureau.

There are a number of points that should be considered by either the buyer of a finished house, or the builder of a new home, which can safely be undertaken by the individual himself.

In the points that he may feel reasonably safe in deciding for himself it is suggested that he group them under two heads, design and construction. Ten points are given under each heading, as follows:

Design

1. The house should be simple and attractive. Ask yourself this question, "Do I want to live in a house that looks like this 365 days of the year, for many years?"
2. What about the neighborhood? Are the houses in the immediate vicinity and the people you will have for neighbors the kind that you want to live among and see every day in the year?
3. Is the setting of the house convenient to the street and are the grounds well planted and well kept? Are there shade trees?

4. How does the house face with respect to the sun? Will there be sunlight in your living and sleeping rooms and is provision made for cross ventilation in these principal rooms?

5. Are your rooms conveniently located so that the housework can be easily carried on and so that you can have some privacy for yourself and family? With the kitchen arranged as it is, will the work there take too much effort?

6. Is there plenty of closet and storage space, a closet in each of the bedrooms, a cloak closet convenient to the front door?

7. Try the stairways. Are they easy to climb and is there plenty of head room? Will there be a draft down stairs into the living room?

8. If there is a cellar or basement with heating plant or laundry in it, are they accessible from both the inside and outside of the house?

9. Has each room ample light and a comfortable feeling and most important, is there a place for your beds, bureau, piano, and other special furniture?

10. Are the electric and gas outlets conveniently arranged for your comfort and use?

Construction

1. Look about the house carefully to see if there are any signs of settlement about the walls and foundations. Examine the latter for cracks. Center posts and girders should be sound and show no signs of sagging.

2. The condition of the plastering is a good indication as to whether the house is well braced. Look for stains on plaster from water leaks from the roof.

3. Do the doors squeak, are there wide openings between the board units, are floors level, casings warped, do cupboards and drawers open freely?

4. What kind of plumbing fixtures are used? Are they in good condition? Does water run through them freely without hissing?

5. Is the heating plant in good condition and large enough to supply the house? Be particular about convenient to the street and are the grounds well planted and well kept? Are there shade trees?

4. How does the house face with respect to the sun? Will there be sunlight in your living and sleeping rooms and is provision made for cross ventilation in these principal rooms?

5. Are your rooms conveniently located so that the housework can be easily carried on and so that you can have some privacy for yourself and family? With the kitchen arranged as it is, will the work there take too much effort?

6. Is there plenty of closet and storage space, a closet in each of the bedrooms, a cloak closet convenient to the front door?

7. Try the stairways. Are they easy to climb and is there plenty of head room? Will there be a draft down stairs into the living room?

8. If there is a cellar or basement with heating plant or laundry in it, are they accessible from both the inside and outside of the house?

9. Has each room ample light and a comfortable feeling and most important, is there a place for your beds, bureau, piano, and other special furniture?

10. Are the electric and gas outlets conveniently arranged for your comfort and use?

Construction

1. Look about the house carefully to see if there are any signs of settlement about the walls and foundations. Examine the latter for cracks. Center posts and girders should be sound and show no signs of sagging.

2. The condition of the plastering is a good indication as to whether the house is well braced. Look for stains on plaster from water leaks from the roof.

3. Do the doors squeak, are there wide openings between the board units, are floors level, casings warped, do cupboards and drawers open freely?

4. What kind of plumbing fixtures are used? Are they in good condition? Does water run through them freely without hissing?

5. Is the heating plant in good condition and large enough to supply the house? Be particular about

How to Enjoy Your Summer Vacation Without Cost

Build a good cottage at one of the lakes and rent it when you are not using it.

The demand for good cottages at very good rentals is increasing each season and last year the season was much longer than usual.

It is not at all impossible to build a good substantial lake cottage and enjoy it yourself for some weeks and get enough rental for it the first season to nearly pay the cost of building.

Now is the time to plan. Consult us today.
